

THE DAILY DEMOCRAT

Edw. S. Harter Fred W. Gayer
Editors and Managers.

Ed H. De La Court, Mgr. Advertising Dept.
LONG DISTANCE PHONE 181

PUBLISHED BY THE AKRON DEMOCRAT COMPANY

OFFICE
Democrat Block, Nos. 125 and 127 Main st.
LONG DISTANCE PHONE 181

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS
President—JAMES V. WELSH
Vice-President—A. T. FAIRBANK
Secretary—WILLIAM T. SAWYER
Treasurer—J. M. MCANAMARA
Ed H. De La Court

Entered at the Postoffice at Akron, Ohio, as Second-Class Mail Matter.

Delivered Every Evening by Carrier Boy 5 CENTS A WEEK
By Mail $2.00 — $1.50 for Six Months

Official Paper of the City of Akron.

TO TELEPHONE THE DEMOCRAT CALL
NO. 180.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 31

TRADE COUNCIL
AKRON

Ohio Democratic Ticket.

For Governor,
JOHN R. McLEAN,
of Hamilton.

For Lieutenant Governor, A. W. PATRICK,
of Tuscarawas.

For Supreme Judge,
DEWITT C. BADGER,
of Madison.

For Attorney General,
J. W. DOBE,
of Seneca.

For Auditor,
GEORGE W. SIGAFOOS,
of Deke.

For Treasurer,
JAMES I. GORMAN,
of Lawrence.

For Member of Board of Public Works, FLETCHER D. MALIN,
of Lake.

Democratic District Ticket.

For State Senator from the 24th-26th District,
EDWARD M. YOUNG,
of Summit.

Democratic County Ticket.

For Representative,
CHAS. W. KEMPEL.

For Probate Judge,
ISAAC H. PHELPS.

For Clerk of Courts,
WM. A. DURAND.

For Recorder,
MICHAEL REILLY.

For Commissioner,
JACOB D. BREITENSTEIN.

For Infirmary Director,
BURTON L. SANFORD.

DEMOCRATIC LAND APPRAISERS.

Akron.

First ward—J. K. SIMMONS.
Second ward—WM. NEALAN.
Third ward—GEO. E. SCHAEFER.
Fourth ward—CHRIS. LAMBACHER.
Fifth ward—V. A. CLARK.
Sixth ward—JOHN D. CAMPBELL.

Townships.

Boston—JAS. SULLIVAN.
Copley—S. S. ROTHROCK.
Covington—J. L. POSTER.
Cuyahoga Falls—M. M. MCANAMARA.
Franklin—JOHN DEUTSCH.
Green—WM. KRUMBOY.
Hudson—A. I. SHIELDS.
Northampton—WM. MOTZ.
Northfield—GEO. W. FORBES.
Norion—GEO. SNYDER.
Portage—J. W. FRANK.
Springfield—B. M. BOYER.
Stow—H. B. GRAHAM.
Tallmadge—THOS. F. METLIN.
Twinsburg—A. J. BROWN.

STORY OF A WAR MAP

AN INTERESTING INCIDENT OF THE BATTLE OF WEI-HAI-WEI.

How an Accidental Discovery by an American Newspaper Correspondent Made Things Easy For the Japanese Fleet.

[Special Correspondence.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—Walter G.
Smith, who is one of the editors of the San Francisco Chronicle, is about to leave for Honolulu, where he will take charge of the leading daily newspaper.
Mr. Smith formerly resided in the Hawaiian Islands and for two years was very prominent in political affairs.

In China during the war with Japan and while representing The Chronicle, Mr. Smith won his greatest fame. He went through the final campaign and witnessed six battles and was present at the surrender of the Chinese fleet.

At Wei-Hai-Wei Mr. Smith happened to be in the company of some newspaper men, and they started out for the waterfront with the intention of reaching a certain point of land where a good view of the ships could be secured.

There were 10,000 Japanese soldiers surrounding the city. Mr. Smith and his friends as they walked along the shore were soon discovered by a Chinese gunboat. She came up and surveyed the little party of newspaper men and concluded to fire. The ball struck some mules near by, and they started to run.
Mr. Smith and his fellow journalists continued on their walk. The gunboat

was then a thousand yards away, when suddenly a company of Japanese soldiers was spied on a nearby hill. The gun-boat turned around and from a distance of 300 feet tried to kill the Japs with her rapid fire machine guns. The Japs, instead of retiring, picked off the soldiers on the vessel. A fight for ten minutes followed, and the gunboat then decided to sail away.

During this contest the newspaper men were standing on a levee, and under it had been placed a ton of dynamite. They started back for the hill and entered a large Chinese house which had been looted by the troops. The newspaper men were hungry, so they searched for food. A can of molded raisins was all that could be found. Mr.
Smith was looking down on the floor when he saw an old Chinese geography and picked it up as a souvenir. It was a fortunate moment for him.

The house had been occupied by an English officer, Colonel Theodore Smedley,
by name, who had been the instructor of the Chinese navy. He was at that moment with the fleet in the harbor.
Mr. Smith and his companions went out of the house and sat on a stone wall to eat their raisins. A quarter of a mile away were the Chin Chen Yen and other boats, and when they saw the hungry crowd on the stone wall the Chinamen opened fire. Shots soon began to drop,
and the war vessels were covered with smoke. All the newspaper men lay flat on the ground except one man, who stood erect and unmoved. He had a camera and took pictures during the storm of shells. Mr. Smith declares that the act of this photographer was one of the bravest deeds he ever saw.

Later the party started back for the city, but one of the gunboats, discerning their intention, attempted to head them off. This compelled the correspondents to seek shelter until the danger had passed. While a dozen or more shells were whistling over their heads and bullets were dropping on all sides the newspaper men felt that it was a good time to keep quiet. Pretty soon the thing became monotonous, and Mr.
Smith began to be restless. He happened to think of his geography and as an amusement decided to take the volume out of his pocket and look over its pages. As he did so a piece of paper fell out and fluttered on the ground. He had enough curiosity to pick up the fallen paper. Upon it was written a few lines, and it was a most valuable document.
It was the official map of the city and harbor of Wei-Hai-Wei. It had been drawn by Colonel Smedley and was his personal property. All the important fortifications around the city, the location of the different guns and the position of the obstructions in the harbor were clearly shown. As soon as the news boat got tired of firing her guns
she steamed away.

Mr. Smith, realizing the importance of his discovery, hurried at once with the other newspaper men and soon reached the Japanese lines. He then went to the army headquarters and informed the authorities of his find. In hunting in the map he suggested that it should be returned to him after use.

That same evening the map was forwarded to the commander of the Japanese blockading squadron. He was the famous Admiral Ito and decided to make use of his latest information. He realized that he held the key to the situation and only waited for the coming of daylight to put his newly formed plans into execution. When the next morning arrived, Admiral Ito sent his message to the Japanese fleet.

When you know a good thing, tell
it.

It will not lessen its goodness.
But it will do good to others.
There's more misery just like it.
There are lots of lame backs in Akron.

It's a busy place and backs are
used.

There's urinary trouble to a large extent.

Colds affect the kidneys.

The kidneys are the cause, not the colds.

Keep them in shape, and life is life.

Doan's Kidney Pills do perfect
work.

Are for kidneys only.

Akron people testify to their
merit.

Here's a case of it:

Mr. W. W. Green, of 306 Washington st., says: "I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and being in need of such a remedy I procured them at Lamparter & Co.'s drug store. I can conscientiously say that they cured me
of pains in my back and annoyance from inactive kidneys from which I had suffered for a long time. I had also more or less headache and the kidney secretions were not as they should be. When stooping, sharp acute twinges passed through my loins, the least exertion wearied me and I was often obliged to stop. I can tired in the mornings than the night before. Since using Doan's Kidney Pills I have been quite free from these troubles and give all the credit to that valuable and reliable remedy."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-McBirn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

continued on their walk. The gunboat

was then a thousand yards away, when
suddenly a company of Japanese soldiers
was spied on a nearby hill. The gun-
boat turned around and from a distance
of 300 feet tried to kill the Japs with
her rapid fire machine guns. The Japs,
instead of retiring, picked off the soldiers on the vessel. A fight for ten minutes followed, and the gunboat then decided to sail away.

During this contest the newspaper
men were standing on a levee, and under it had been placed a ton of dynam-
ite. They started back for the hill and
entered a large Chinese house which
had been looted by the troops. The
newspaper men were hungry, so they
searched for food. A can of molded rais-
ins was all that could be found. Mr.
Smith was looking down on the floor
when he saw an old Chinese geography
and picked it up as a souvenir. It was
a fortunate moment for him.

The house had been occupied by an
English officer, Colonel Theodore Smedley,
by name, who had been the instructor
of the Chinese navy. He was at that moment with the fleet in the harbor.
Mr. Smith and his companions went
out of the house and sat on a stone wall
to eat their raisins. A quarter of a mile away were the Chin Chen Yen and other
boats, and when they saw the hungry
crowd on the stone wall the Chinamen
opened fire. Shots soon began to drop,
and the war vessels were covered with
smoke. All the newspaper men lay flat
on the ground except one man, who
stood erect and unmoved. He had a
camera and took pictures during the
storm of shells. Mr. Smith declares that
the act of this photographer was one of
the bravest deeds he ever saw.

Later the party started back for the
city, but one of the gunboats, discern-
ing their intention, attempted to head
them off. This compelled the correspondents to seek shelter until the danger had passed. While a dozen or more
shells were whistling over their heads
and bullets were dropping on all sides
the newspaper men felt that it was a good time to keep quiet. Pretty soon
the thing became monotonous, and Mr.
Smith began to be restless. He happened to think of his geography and as
an amusement decided to take the volume out of his pocket and look over its
pages. As he did so a piece of paper fell
out and fluttered on the ground. He
had enough curiosity to pick up the
fallen paper. Upon it was written a
few lines, and it was a most valuable document.
It was the official map of the city and
harbor of Wei-Hai-Wei. It had been
drawn by Colonel Smedley and was his
personal property. All the important
fortifications around the city, the location of the different guns and the position of the obstructions in the harbor
were clearly shown. As soon as the
news boat got tired of firing her guns
she steamed away.

Mr. Smith, realizing the importance
of his discovery, hurried at once with
the other newspaper men and soon
reached the Japanese lines. He then went to the army headquarters and informed the authorities of his find. In
hunting in the map he suggested that
it should be returned to him after use.

Jewel Stoves and Ranges

is always at home in a JEWEL STOVE or RANGE, burns freer, gives better service with least amount of waste.

Jewel Stoves and Ranges

embody the most advanced scientific principles in stove building. For heating or cooking, for economy of cost, cheapness of operation, efficiency, cleanliness and desirability JEWEL stand supreme. Famous for over 30 years. 3,000,000 in use.

Jewel Stoves are sold by MAY & FIEBEE

was then a thousand yards away, when
suddenly a company of Japanese soldiers
was spied on a nearby hill. The gun-
boat turned around and from a distance
of 300 feet tried to kill the Japs with
her rapid fire machine guns. The Japs,
instead of retiring, picked off the soldiers on the vessel. A fight for ten minutes followed, and the gunboat then decided to sail away.

During this contest the newspaper
men were standing on a levee, and under it had been placed a ton of dynam-
ite. They started back for the hill and
entered a large Chinese house which
had been looted by the troops. The
newspaper men were hungry, so they
searched for food. A can of molded rais-
ins was all that could be found. Mr.
Smith was looking down on the floor
when he saw an old Chinese geography
and picked it up as a souvenir. It was
a fortunate moment for him.

The house had been occupied by an
English officer, Colonel Theodore Smedley,
by name, who had been the instructor
of the Chinese navy. He was at that moment with the fleet in the harbor.
Mr. Smith and his companions went
out of the house and sat on a stone wall
to eat their raisins. A quarter of a mile away were the Chin Chen Yen and other
boats, and when they saw the hungry
crowd on the stone wall the Chinamen
opened fire. Shots soon began to drop,
and the war vessels were covered with
smoke. All the newspaper men lay flat
on the ground except one man, who
stood erect and unmoved. He had a
camera and took pictures during the
storm of shells. Mr. Smith declares that
the act of this photographer was one of
the bravest deeds he ever saw.

Later the party started back for the
city, but one of the gunboats, discern-
ing their intention, attempted to head
them off. This compelled the correspondents to seek shelter until the danger had passed. While a dozen or more
shells were whistling over their heads
and bullets were dropping on all sides
the newspaper men felt that it was a good time to keep quiet. Pretty soon
the thing became monotonous, and Mr.
Smith began to be restless. He happened to think of his geography and as
an amusement decided to take the volume out of his pocket and look over its
pages. As he did so a piece of paper fell
out and fluttered on the ground. He
had enough curiosity to pick up the
fallen paper. Upon it was written a
few lines, and it was a most valuable document.
It was the official map of the city and
harbor of Wei-Hai-Wei. It had been
drawn by Colonel Smedley and was his
personal property. All the important
fortifications around the city, the location of the different guns and the position of the obstructions in the harbor
were clearly shown. As soon as the
news boat got tired of firing her guns
she steamed away.

Mr. Smith, realizing the importance
of his discovery, hurried at once with
the other newspaper men and soon
reached the Japanese lines. He then went to the army headquarters and informed the authorities of his find. In
hunting in the map he suggested that
it should be returned to him after use.

That same evening the map was for-
warded to the commander of the Japanese blockading squadron. He was the
famous Admiral Ito and decided to
make use of his latest information. He
realized that he held the key to the situation and only waited for the coming
of daylight to put his newly formed
plans into execution. When the next morning arrived, Admiral Ito sent his

message to the Japanese fleet.

When you know a good thing, tell
it.

It will not lessen its goodness.
But it will do good to others.
There's more misery just like it.
There are lots of lame backs in Ak-
ron.

It's a busy place and backs are
used.

There's urinary trouble to a large
extent.

Colds affect the kidneys.

The kidneys are the cause, not the
colds.

Keep them in shape, and life is
life.

Doan's Kidney Pills do perfect
work.

Are for kidneys only.

Akron people testify to their
merit.

Here's a case of it:

Mr. W. W. Green, of 306 Washington st., says: "I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and being in need of
such a remedy I procured them at
Lamparter & Co.'s drug store. I can
conscientiously say that they cured me
of pains in my back and annoyance
from inactive kidneys from which I had suffered for a long time. I had
also more or less headache and the
kidney secretions were not as they
should be. When stooping, sharp
acute twinges passed through my
loins, the least exertion wearied me
and I was often obliged to stop. I can
tired in the mornings than the night
before. Since using Doan's Kidney Pills I have been quite free from these
troubles and give all the credit
to that valuable and reliable remedy."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by
Foster-McBirn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Sole agents for the U. S. Remember
the name Doan's and take no other.

continued on their walk. The gunboat

was then a thousand yards away, when
suddenly a company of Japanese soldiers
was spied on a nearby hill. The gun-
boat turned around and from a distance
of 300 feet tried to kill the Japs with
her rapid fire machine guns. The Japs,
instead of retiring, picked off the soldiers on the vessel. A fight for ten minutes followed, and the gunboat then decided to sail away.

During this contest the newspaper
men were standing on a levee, and under it had been placed a ton of dynam-
ite. They started back for the hill and
entered a large Chinese house which
had been looted by the troops. The
newspaper men were hungry, so they
searched for food. A can of molded rais-
ins was all that could be found. Mr.
Smith was looking down on the floor
when he saw an old Chinese geography
and picked it up as a souvenir. It was
a fortunate moment for him.

The house had been occupied by an
English officer, Colonel Theodore Smedley,
by name, who had been the instructor
of the Chinese navy. He was at that moment with the fleet in the harbor.
Mr. Smith and his companions went
out of the house and sat on a stone wall
to eat their raisins. A quarter of a mile away were the Chin Chen Yen and other
boats, and when they saw the hungry
crowd on the stone wall the Chinamen
opened fire. Shots soon began to drop,
and the war vessels were covered with
smoke. All the newspaper men lay flat
on the ground except one man, who
stood erect and unmoved. He had a
camera and took pictures during the
storm of shells. Mr. Smith declares that
the act of this photographer was one of
the bravest deeds he ever saw.

Later the party started back for the
city, but one of the gunboats, discern-
ing their intention, attempted to head
them off. This compelled the correspondents to seek shelter until the danger had passed. While a dozen or more
shells were whistling over their heads
and bullets were dropping on all sides
the newspaper men felt that it was a good time to keep quiet. Pretty soon
the thing became monotonous, and Mr.
Smith began to be restless. He happened to think of his geography and as
an amusement decided to take the volume out of his pocket and look over its
pages. As he did so a piece of paper fell
out and fluttered on the ground. He
had enough curiosity to pick up the
fallen paper. Upon it was written a
few lines, and it was a most valuable document.
It was the official map of the city and
harbor of Wei-Hai-Wei. It had been
drawn by Colonel Smedley and was his
personal property. All the important
fortifications around the city, the location of the different guns and the position of the obstructions in the harbor
were clearly shown. As soon as the
news boat got tired of firing her guns
she steamed away.

Mr. Smith, realizing the importance
of his discovery, hurried at once with
the other newspaper men and soon
reached the Japanese lines. He then went to the army headquarters and informed the authorities of his find. In
hunting in the map he suggested that
it should be returned to him after use.

That same evening the map was for-
warded to the commander of the Japanese blockading squadron. He was the
famous Admiral Ito and decided to
make use of his latest information. He
realized that he held the key to the situation and only waited for the coming
of daylight to put his newly formed
plans into execution. When the next morning arrived, Admiral Ito sent his

message to the Japanese fleet.

When you know a good thing, tell
it.

It will not lessen its goodness.
But it will do good to others.
There's more misery just like it.
There are lots of lame backs in Ak-
ron.

It's a busy place and backs are
used.

There's urinary trouble to a large
extent.

Colds affect the kidneys.

The kidneys are the cause, not the
colds.

Keep them in shape, and life is
life.

Doan's Kidney Pills do perfect
work.

Are for kidneys only.

Akron people testify to their
merit.

Here's a case of it:

Mr. W. W. Green, of 306 Washington st., says: "I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and being in need of
such a remedy I procured them at
Lamparter & Co.'s drug store. I can
conscientiously say that they cured me
of pains in my back and annoyance
from inactive kidneys from which I had suffered for a long time. I had
also more or less headache and the
kidney secretions were not as they
should be. When stooping, sharp
acute twinges passed through my
loins, the least exertion wearied me
and I was often obliged to stop. I can
tired in the mornings than the night
before. Since using Doan's Kidney Pills I have been quite free from these
troubles and give all the credit
to that valuable and reliable remedy."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by
Foster-McBirn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Sole agents for the U. S. Remember
the name Doan's and take no other.

continued on their walk. The gunboat

was then a thousand yards away, when
suddenly a company of Japanese soldiers
was spied on a nearby hill. The gun-
boat turned around and from a distance
of 300 feet tried to kill the Japs with
her rapid fire machine guns. The Japs,
instead of retiring, picked off the soldiers on the vessel. A fight for ten minutes followed, and the gunboat then decided to sail away.

During this contest the newspaper
men were standing on a levee, and under it had been placed a ton of dynam-
ite. They started back for the hill and
entered a large Chinese house which
had been looted by the troops. The
newspaper men were hungry, so they
searched for food. A can of molded rais-
ins was all that could be found. Mr.
Smith was looking down on the floor
when he saw an old Chinese geography
and picked it up as a souvenir. It was
a fortunate moment for him.

The house had been occupied by an
English officer, Colonel Theodore Smedley,
by name, who had been the instructor
of the Chinese navy. He was at that moment with the fleet in the harbor.
Mr. Smith and his companions went
out of the house and sat on a stone wall
to eat their raisins. A quarter of a mile away were the Chin Chen Yen and other
boats, and when they saw the hungry
crowd on the stone wall the Chinamen
opened fire. Shots soon began to drop,
and the war vessels were covered with
smoke. All the newspaper men lay flat
on the ground except one man, who
stood erect and unmoved. He had a
camera and took pictures during the
storm of shells. Mr. Smith declares that
the act of this photographer was one of
the bravest deeds he ever saw.

Later the party started back for the
city, but one of the gunboats, discern-
ing their intention, attempted to head
them off. This compelled the correspondents to seek shelter until the danger had passed. While a dozen or more
shells were whistling over their heads
and bullets were dropping on all sides
the newspaper men felt that it was a good time to keep quiet. Pretty soon
the thing became monotonous, and Mr.
Smith began to be restless. He happened to think of his geography and as
an amusement decided to take the volume out of his pocket and look over its
pages. As he did so a piece of paper fell
out and fluttered on the ground. He
had enough curiosity to pick up the
fallen paper. Upon it was written a
few lines, and it was a most valuable document.
It was the official map of the city and
harbor of Wei-Hai-Wei. It had been
drawn by Colonel Smedley and was his
personal property. All the important
fortifications around the city, the location of the different guns and the position of the obstructions in the harbor
were clearly shown. As soon as the
news boat got tired of firing her guns
she steamed away.

Mr. Smith, realizing the importance
of his discovery, hurried at once with
the other newspaper men and soon
reached the Japanese lines. He then went to the army headquarters and informed the authorities of his find. In
hunting in the map he suggested that
it should be returned to him after use.

That same evening the map was for-
warded to the commander of the Japanese blockading squadron. He was the
famous Admiral Ito and decided to
make use of his latest information. He
realized that he held the key to the sit-
uation and only waited for the coming
of daylight to put his newly formed
plans into execution. When the next morning arrived, Admiral Ito sent his

message to the Japanese fleet.

When you know a good thing, tell
it.

It will not lessen its goodness.
But it will do good to others.
There's more misery just like it.
There are lots of lame backs in Ak-
ron.

It's a busy place and backs are
used.

There's urinary trouble to a large
extent.

Colds affect the kidneys.

The kidneys are the cause, not the
colds.

Keep them in shape, and life is
life.

Doan's Kidney Pills do perfect
work.

Are for kidneys only.

A HEAVENLY GUARD.

DR. TALMAGE ON THE MISSION OF THE ANGELS.

They Have Much to Do With the Everyday Affairs of Life, Says the Distinguished Preacher—A Guardian Angel